The Law to Enforce the Fifteenth amendment, an abstract of which appeared in our dispatches yesterday, has passed both Houses of Congress, and after the approval of the Pressient, which will undoubedly be given to it, will become a part of the law. Ostensibly, the object of the bill is to enforce the right of suffrage secured by the Pifteenth amendment; but under cover of this general purpose the civil rights bill is specifically re-enacted, provisions are thrown in imposing penalties on those who accept, or attempt to hold office in violation of the Fourteenth amendment; and punishment for crimes, taxes, licenses, competency to testify, and all sorts of civil rights, are regulated and placed on an equality, without distinction of race, color or previous condition of servitude. The provisions relating to elections, so far as applicable to our modes of election, are in the main similar to those contained in the Kentucky statute on the same subject; but the penalties and liabilities are more severe, and the language used is so comprehensive as to admit a latitudinarian construction that Mdile. CLEMENE RAOUL-PIGET dwelt mit a latitudinarian construction that practice of that which is gracious and graceful in woman than any o who earns her livelihood and
